

U.S. SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

The Investor's Advocate

2006 SUMMER HONORS BUSINESS PROGRAM

Updated Application Period: Mid-December to February 15th

The Securities and Exchange Commission's Summer Honors Business Program is an internship program that introduces students pursuing MBAs and other graduate business degrees concentrating in such areas as accounting, finance, economics, information systems/information technology, human resources, and public policy to the regulation of the securities markets and the work of the Commission. Graduate students from universities across the country have the opportunity to work for ten weeks during the summer in the Commission's Washington, DC headquarters or in one of its 11 regional and district offices.

Program Features:

- Exposure to the SEC's work to protect investors.
- Supervised, substantive work assignments related to securities industry regulation or areas that support the mission and operations of the SEC.
- Interaction with SEC accountants, examiners, finance and budget analysts, IT specialists and others.
- Presentations hosted by SEC executives on relevant business and legal issues impacting the securities industry and the regulatory work of the Commission.
- Mentoring and professional development opportunities.

Participating Offices May Include The Following:
